INTERPROFESSIONAL HEALTH, EDUCATION AND PRACTICE INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE 2015

5 – 7TH OCTOBER 2015

PULLMAN ALBERT PARK HOTEL, MELBOURNE

WELCOME TO THE INTERPROFESSIONAL HEALTH, EDUCATION AND PRACTICE INTERNATIONAL (IHEP) CONFERENCE IN MELBOURNE OCTOBER 2015

We are excited to announce the inaugural Victoria University IHEP Conference from 5-7th October 2015.

THE THEMES OF THIS CONFERENCE ARE: EXPOSE, IMMERSE AND EXPERIENCE.

These themes reflect a scaffolded pedagogical approach to interprofessional learning. Expose reflects the development of ideas and concepts related to the image and scope of practice of both one's own profession as well as those of others. Immerse relates to learner-centered activities including simulation in which participants develop skills for interprofessional practice. Experience represents the myriad of practice settings in which interprofessional teams function and collaborate.

AUDIENCE

We welcome attendance by anyone interested in interprofessional health collaboration in health care/education and the conference is particularly relevant to:

- Health care practitioners
- Researchers
- Academics from universities, colleges and institutes
- Health and Education Policy decision-makers
- Students
- Health consumer organisations, with an interest in advancing all aspects of interprofessional education, leadership, practice, governance and policy

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The IHEP conference will address a range of critically important issues and themes relating to the interprofessional collaboration community.

The three-day conference will feature best practices, showcase evidence-based outcomes and lessons learned, and provide a venue for scholarly dialogue and productive networking. Plenary speakers include some of the leading thinkers in these areas, as well as numerous paper, colloquium, poster and workshop presentations.

Professor Hugh Barr is currently the president of the UK Centre for the Advancement of Interprofessional Education (CAIPE) and honorary fellow and emeritus professor of interprofessional education at the University of Westminster, and visiting chairs in that field at Kingston & St George's, University Campus Suffolk, the University of Greenwich and Curtin University (Western Australia).

Professor Scott Reeves is a world-renowned British social scientist from University of California, San Francisco (UCSF), where he was the founding director of UCSF's Center for Innovation in Interprofessional Healthcare Education. Currently he is the Professor in Interprofessional Research, Faculty of Health, Social Care and Education, Kingston University and St George's, University of London

CONFERENCE AIM

Creating an innovative interprofessional community to build global collaboration in health research, education, practice and policy

OBJECTIVES

- To shape future research
- Information sharing and knowledge exchange
- To build collaborative global relationships that will transform health education and improve health outcomes
- To build an IPE evidence base to innovate practice, policy and research.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

We are inviting abstracts for presentations in innovative formats as well as more traditional oral presentations, posters or workshops.

Abstracts in health education, research and/or practice must be related to the following themes:

- Expose (Introduction)
- Immerse (Exploration)
- Experience (Practice-based)

Proposals that extend beyond these thematic areas, for example those related to health policy and governance in interprofessional education, research and practice as well as simulated learning or e-learning in the three broad themes will also be considered.
